

THE PRICE TOWER ARTS CENTER PRESENTS: 2017 ARCHITECTURE YOUTH SUMMER CAMP: JULY 10 - JULY 14

A STEAM inspired activity for youth ages 8 to 14. Maximum capacity: 40 students. Cost $150.

About the Camp:

The Price Tower Arts Center is a historic landmark located in Bartlesville, OK. The "tree that escaped the crowded forest" is the only realized skyscraper by architect Frank Lloyd Wright, who waited 25 years to secure a client who would build his dream. An iconic treasure, the building draws people from across the world to discover the building and all the finite details that Mr. Wright considered in its design. In honor of Frank Lloyd Wright's 150th birthday, the Price Tower is pleased to announce the return of its annual summer day camp programming with the Architecture Youth Summer Camp. This is a STEAM (Science, Technology, Engineering, Art, and Math) inspired activity which will engage students in a unique, fun, and educational experience this summer. Daily activities will build on the foundations learned the day before. Morning sessions will include informational lectures and provide background and history to that day's featured project or craft in the afternoon.

Thanks to our community friends and supporters, the Price Tower is able to offer this camp for $150 per student, and have secured funding scholarships so that cost is not a barrier to participation. Please call us if a scholarship is needed. Tuition covers: Lunch, materials, books, and a Certificate of Completion on Day 5. Parents are invited to see the children's work in a short "Graduation" on July 14 at 2:30pm.
